

Difference between a few and few

- Using a few instead of few in a sentence changes a sentence's meaning. Whereas "a few" implies a small number of some that is greater than two, "few" implies only a small number. Other words, like "very" or "quite", may also come before "a few" or "few" and further change sentence meaning.

few

a few

◆ Few

positive quantity

- -4   -3   -2   -1
- 1   2   3   4

negative quantity

The word few represents a negative quantity or shortage.

◆ A few

They both are used with countable noun.

□ -a few has positive meaning.
It means a small amount of something, but it is enough.

□ -few has negative meaning.
It means a small amount of something and it isn't still enough.

Few has a negative nuance and shows dissatisfaction:

"Few" without the preceding "a" connotes "an insignificantly small number"

A few has a positive nuance & shows satisfaction:

"A few" connotes "not an overwhelmingly large number, but not an insignificantly small number either."

Few emphasises the lack of something:

- ▣ There are few sweets left in the jar.

www.shutterstock.com · 86278060

We should be careful not to eat them too quickly because they are almost gone.

A few emphasises that something still remains.

□ I have a few sweets In the jar.

This means that sweets is enough for me.

Asel has got a few strawberries.
She can make some jam.

Bota has got few strawberries.
She can't make any jam.

FEW

'I have FEW books' expresses a negative idea
- I'm not happy with the situation, I do NOT have ENOUGH books.

"I have few friends." (and I'm lonely)

FEW

A FEW

'I have A FEW books' expresses a positive idea
- I'm happy with the situation.

"I have a few friends." (and it's OK with me)

- A few of the students are ready.

- Your homework has so few mistakes.

