

История индейцев

In North America, there were about 400 Indian tribes. They all spoke different languages and had no written language. Some tribes were widely used "body language." The basic tools of language signals are conditional on walking or riding, mirrors. For communication and used wampum, if need were the Indians as money.

Almost all the Indians wore on his head an ornament of feathers. Although it is not regarded by them as a decoration. Those who distinguished himself in battle, give the pen. This pen is called Coop. For one killed enemy gave one kup, and if the enemy was killed with bare hands, the two Coop. The more a hero warrior, the more feathers he had.

Teepee shaped right cone on the frame of poles for the lid, made of treated hides buffalo or deer. Later, with the development of trade with the Europeans, often use lighter canvas.

