

ODD LAWS AND TRADITIONS

It is illegal for chickens to cross the road in Quitman, Georgia

WHY DID
THE CHICKEN
CROSS THE ROAD?
BECAUSE HE WAS A REBEL WITHOUT A CAUSE

ITS ILLEGAL
FOR A CHICKEN TO CROSS THE ROAD IN QUITMAN, GEORGIA

In Mohave County, Arizona, if anyone is caught stealing soap, he must wash himself with it until the soap is gone

In North Dakota, no one can be arrested on the Fourth of July, a holiday that is commonly known there as “Five Finger Discount Day”

In Tennessee, it is illegal for children to play games on Sunday without a license

WHY?

It is illegal in California to lick toads. Apparently, some people were licking toads to get high. Unfortunately, some people were being harmed by the toads' poison

It is against Michigan state law to tie a crocodile to a fire hydrant

Colorado law states that a man cannot marry his wife's grandmother

A woman in a housecoat is forbidden to drive a car in California

A man is forbidden to kiss a woman while she's asleep in Logan County, Colorado

In Challis, Idaho, it is illegal to walk down the street with another man's wife.

Flirting in Little Rock, Arkansas, can land someone in jail for 30 days

There are still laws in Pueblo, Colorado, stating that it is illegal to grow dandelions

A woman in Memphis, Tennessee, is not allowed to drive a car unless a man is in front of the car waving a red flag to warn people and other cars

In Kalispell, Montana, children must have a doctor's note if they want to buy a lollipop

In Eureka, Nevada, it is illegal for men who have mustaches to kiss women

In Texas, the Encyclopedia Britannica was banned because it contained a formula for making beer

It's illegal in St. Louis, Missouri, for a fireman to rescue a woman wearing a nightgown

Buying ice cream on Sundays was illegal in Ohio because it was thought to be frivolous and “luxurious”

According to Florida law, anyone who takes a bath must wear clothes

Women in Whitesville, Delaware, could be charged with disorderly conduct if they propose marriage to a man

In Kentucky, it is against the law to remarry the same man four times

In Dyersburg, Tennessee, it is against the law for a girl to telephone a boy to ask for a date

In 1659, Massachusetts outlawed Christmas.
According to state law, anybody observing
Christmas would be fined five shillings

Policemen are allowed to bite a dog if they think it will calm the dog down in Paulding, Ohio

In Zeigler, Illinois, only the first four firemen to arrive at a fire will be paid

- Bizarre National Customs From Around The World

UK: saluting lone magpies

NETHERLANDS: congratulating the entire family on someone's birthday

SCOTLAND: Wearing skirts and reciting poetry once a year

AUSTRIA: Pulling fingers

DENMARK: Throwing cinnamon at single people

FRANCE: buying funny hats for your unmarried friends

GERMANY: following a sock-garland to your birthday party

GERMANY: Cleaning on your thirtieth birthday

FINLAND: Competitive wife-carrying

ALSO FINLAND: Athletic boot-throwing

ALSO MEXICO: Throwing money for children

Canada: Keep Your Comics Clean

It's Illegal to Build Big Snowmen in Souris, P.E.I.

It's Illegal to Whistle in Petrolia, Ont.

