

Norway

- The Norwegians are guided by a sense of equity. This approach is a cause and a consequence of using economic levers of state power.

- Thus, Norway is a perfect legal state, where the best conditions for life of citizens.

The territory of the country is shared in two parts: the low populated north area occupied by the lofty mountains and densely populated southern region (total number of population is about five millions). Nevertheless, Norway is the north country, the climate is soft due to the neighborhood to the Gulf Stream.

In Norway all the citizens has equal rights, independent of the gender or material status. For example, the government consists of women on a half. This Scandinavian state has got the best education and healthcare system. It is unbelievable, but the healthcare insurance may present the two-week holiday in tropics for recovery after the sickness.

It is important to say about the highest in the world standard of living. Thanks to the resources of country are totally resided in government, the private companies cannot influence on the economic stability of the state. But instead of wasting the resources, the Norwegian government searches for alternative energy sources and spare the wellness of Norway. As a result, the citizens are sure, that their children and grandchildren will live in the highly developed country too. In my opinion, no one could refuse of leaving for Norway for a long-term residence.

Sights of Norway
1. Geirangerfjord

2. Пёрыс

3. Вёрингсфоссен

Norway (Norwegian: About this soundNorge (Bokmål) or About this soundNoreg (Nynorsk); Northern Sami: Norga; Southern Sami: Nöörje; Lule Sami: Vuodna), officially the Kingdom of Norway, is a Nordic country in Northwestern Europe whose territory comprises the western and northernmost portion of the Scandinavian Peninsula; the remote island of Jan Mayen and the archipelago of Svalbard are also part of the Kingdom of Norway. The Antarctic Peter I Island and the sub-Antarctic Bouvet Island are dependent territories and thus not considered part of the kingdom. Norway also lays claim to a section of Antarctica known as Queen Maud Land.

Norway has a total area of 385,207 square kilometres (148,729 sq mi)[6] and a population of 5,312,300 (as of August 2018). The country shares a long eastern border with Sweden (1,619 km or 1,006 mi long). Norway is bordered by Finland and Russia to the north-east, and the Skagerrak strait to the south, with Denmark on the other side. Norway has an extensive coastline, facing the North Atlantic Ocean and the Barents Sea.

NORWAY

Everything for Norway

4.7 million Population

120th most populous country on earth

5 Regions

Capital : Oslo

Currency : Krone (NOK)

Languages : Norwegian, Northern Sami, Finnish

EUROPE

29 PALMS.RU