

A vibrant space-themed illustration. In the upper left, a large, detailed grey moon with craters is partially visible. In the upper right, the planet Saturn with its rings is shown in shades of blue. In the lower left, a white rocket with a blue window is launching from a small Earth globe, with orange and yellow flames trailing behind it. The background is a gradient of light blue and white, filled with numerous white stars of varying sizes. Other planets, including a green one and a blue one, are scattered in the lower right area.
