

Tea in England

English tea - three and a half centuries, but hardly different tea culture compared to it in the richness of tradition and famous historical figures.

-First, who made the tea, was the young Queen Victoria.

The original tea was introduced to Britain by Catherine of Braganza, wife of King Charles II of England in the 1660s and 1670s,

English tea it is one of the kind of communication

Englishman drink tea 6 or 7 times at day

Tea is served with milk or warmed cream

