CREATING JOHN DILLINGER

Who was John Dillinger?

- a. Flirt
- b. Bank Robber
- c. Legend
- d. Murderer
- e. All of the Above

During a crime spree lasting from September 1933 to July 1934, John Dillinger's gang killed ten men, wounded seven more, robbed seventeen banks, and staged three jail breaks.

The Dillinger gang was mobile, disciplined, and highly organized. Local police could not touch them. They were among a number of criminal gangs that rose to national prominence at the same time, prompting the Justice Department's Bureau of Investigation (later renamed the Federal Bureau of Investigation) to launch an all-out war on crime.

The public viewed John Dillinger as a romantic and exciting public figure. He charmed his cohorts, the press, and even his victims. Dillinger collected his press clippings, carrying copies in his pockets. He actively honed his media image, creating a signature style that included leaping over bank counters and dressing in fashionable clothing.

The Justice Department named Dillinger America's first Public Enemy Number One on June 22, 1934—his 31st birthday—and laid a $10,000 reward on his head. Exactly one month later, they got their man.

REPORT OF THE CHIEF OF POLICE AND THE SHERIFF OF COOK COUNTY, ILLINOIS, TO THE GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF ILLINOIS.

CHIEF OF POLICE: ALVIN K. BROWN, No. 100, Dear
SIR: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 10th inst. and in reply to inform you that the body of the subject of this case, JAMES EARL RAY, was found on the 10th inst. at the residence of the

ORIGINAL DEATH MASK & HAIR

This plaster casting was one of the originals prepared from Dilingers body at the Cook County Morgue. Purportedly, the FBI confiscated the first mold, but others were taken without their knowledge.

FOOTPRINTS

DID YOU KNOW?

Although fingerprints receive the most attention, footprint evidence has been submitted in U.S. courts since 1934.

Just like your fingerprints, there are distinct patterns on the soles and toes of your feet, which are completely unique to you.

While "Footprints" don't get a lot of respect, the military has used impressions of the soles of flight instructors on the same feet to better protect and preserve their hands in the event of a crash or fire.

SHOE PRINTS

Each shoe has a unique pattern on the sole, which can be used to identify the shoe. The FBI Laboratory has a database of shoe prints that can be used to identify a shoe.
