

TRANSLATION
AND TRANSLATING

What is translation?

Translation is the replacement of a source text in a target text.

Source text or source language (ST or SL) is an original text or language.

Target text or target language (TT or TL) is a language into what text is translated.

What is translating?

Translating is the process of translation.

There are 3 rules of translation:

- You should keep the idea of the text
- You should keep the style and manner
- Translation should be

There are 3 ways of translation:

- Word-for-word translation
- Meaning-for-meaning translation
- Loan translation

Translate:

Ask me another.

He used to do it by himself.

Nobody knows anything.

He is no linguist.
