Walt Disney

Walt Disney is the person who created the magical world of dreams for children. His heroes became legends, whereas he had changed the whole concept of film industry. According to some researchers he was the one who turned animation into true art. W. Disney was born in Chicago on December 5, 1901.

CINDERELLA

In 1950, Disney created a cartoon version of the little girl, who with the help of the good fairy bride becomes a handsome Prince. The Directors of the film "Cinderella" were Wilfred Jackson, Hamilton Lasky and Clyde Geronimi. Among the noteworthy scenes worth to mention that, when a mouse pushing a huge pumpkin turned into magnificent horses harnessed to a carriage, and the fairy godmother transforms Cinderella's rags into a ball gown.
